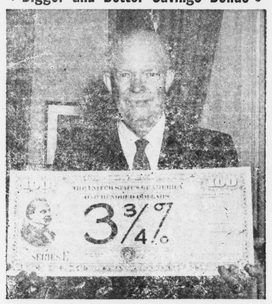
- Bigger and Better Savings Bonds -



● President Eisenhower wants the country to know that United States Savings Bonds now pay 3¼ per cent interest. He posed for this photo just after signing into law a Congressional bill permitting the Treasury to increase interest rates on Series E and H Savings Bonds from the old 3¼ rate. This enlargement of a $100 bond is symbolic, of course, but it carries the message that Savings Bonds are "Now bigger and better." The new rate was made retroactive to June 1. In addition, the 40 million persons already holding Savings Bonds benefit by the legislation. The interest rate on outstanding bonds has been increased by at least one-half per cent from now on if held to maturity. "To my mind," the President said, "there is no better way of saving, no more effective way of strengthening our power for peace, than to own United States Savings Bonds. To buy these bonds is to express faith in America. It helps provide the economic strength in both our Government and in individual families on which our freedom depends. I hope that the making of both old and new Savings Bonds even more attractive will serve as a renewed invitation to every citizen to buy and hold these 'Shares in America'."

IN FASHION NOW

There is a new look in at-home costumes for this winter — the tea gown is back.

This feminine, flattering gown is here with quite a bang and is challenging the overworked skinny pants for hostess wear. Women should rediscover with joy the flattery of wearing an elegant at-home gown, made of luxurious fabric and frankly feminine.

The top choice of materials seems to be lush velvets, brocades, satins and sheer wools, often lace trimmed. Some are fur trimmed.

Cocktail shoes are the choice footwear with these new gowns. Some are shown with heeled bedroom mules in matching colors.

This fall when suit and dress sleeves stop anywhere from wristbone to above the elbow longer gloves must rise to meet them.

Pigskin gloves are always popular, perhaps because pigskin is one of the longest wearing leathers that you can purchase. You will find pigskin gloves will emerge from a careful washing looking as good as new.

Every glove wardrobe should include several pairs of white kid glace' or Doe - skin gloves in different lengths. They are a must for dressed-up late day and evening fashions.

Cape doeskin, kid and suede are the preferred leathers for black and colored gloves. They are warm, long wearing and easy to care for.

PLANE ON CITY STREET

Atlantic City — A biplane became disable recently, then skimmed over telephone wires to land on a residential street, nicking a street sign, house and car on the way in. No one was injured.

The plane had been aloft spraying insecticide to eradicate mosquitoes throught to be bearing the disease encephalitis.

TOO SHORT

Oldham, England — Frank Jones, because he is only four feet, four inches tall, lost his chance for a job but won a wife. The government — owned British Railways turned him down for a welder's job because he was not tall enough. Sarah Cullis, reading about his case, wrote to him, and a romance developed. Miss Cullis, who is just four feet tall, and Jones will be married soon.

CAB, SIR?

Lockport, N. Y. — Walter Van Buren scrambled into his car to pursue a pair of vandals he had seen tampering with his tires. The chase came to a sudden halt, however, when the wheels fell off Van Buren's car.
